Group Technology & Operations

– Operations –

Looking deeper.

Here's to the pin-sharp focus. To seeing what others miss.

At Deutsche Bank we share your passion for analytical precision, for the hidden potential, for cutting to the chase.

Group Technology & Operations is looking for highly ambitious and motivated individuals able to work in teams and take on a broad range of responsibilities across multiple operational areas. Preferred majors include Operations Management, Business, Economics, Finance or Engineering. You will be involved in the fast-paced and deadline-oriented world of trade and transaction processing worth hundreds of billions of dollars daily, across multiple time zones, and in all of the major currencies and markets. Your primary responsibility will involve the proper input, clearance, and settlement of all transactions.

The 20 months training program will start September 1, 2004. For more information please call Lars Winkler, +49 69-910 34003.

Faster, smarter thinking. Delivering intellectual leadership, far-reaching insights, cutting-edge solutions.

Are you ready? Apply now online!

A Passion to Perform.
